More than a hundred people attended an interfaith prayer service held in the Marysville-Pilchuck

High School auditorium on Tuesday, February 24. The event, organized by Reverend Terry Kylo with the St. Philip's Episcopal Church in Marysville, and Father Pat Twohy, director of the Rocky Mountain Mission for the Northwest Jesuits and who has a lengthy history of chaplain services in the Tulalip community, was designed to bring together the diverse cultures represented in the Tulalip/Marysville communities during this time of healing.

The event was held on the four-month anniversary of the October 24 shooting at the high school where Tulalip tribal member Jaylen Fryberg killed four of his classmates leaving behind one survivor, 14-year-old Nate Hatch, also his relative. Killed were 15-year-old Andrew Fryberg, also related to the shooter, Zoe Galasso, Gia Soriano and Shaylee Chuckulnaskit, all 14.

Faith leaders representing many traditions in and around Tulalip and Marysville including Christian, Buddhist, Muslim, Jewish, Sikh, Baha'i and Unitarian welcomed Tulalip/Marysville residents to a time of silence, prayer, encouraging words, and fellowship. Also in attendance were leaders from Tulalip Tribes, who offered a prayer of healing.

"I know when tensions arise in the community and when there is fear that grabs hold, and there is some violence of some kind, that people have a really strong tendency to scapegoat people that they think are different than them," said Rev. Kyлло about the idea around the interfaith service. "I started work with the recovery team and proposed in December that we might put on an interfaith service as a way to honor and celebrate the diversity of the community."

Kyлло reached out to Father Twohy, whom he had never met, about hosting an interfaith service. "I walked up to him and I said, 'Father Twohy, I want to do an interfaith service because we are all human and some of us don't know that.' He immediately said, 'Amen brother. I am with you, give me a call.' So we began working on the service."

Throughout the service faith leaders shared words of encouragement before offering a prayer. Afterwards each faith leader would place a candle on table creating a circle of light meant to represent the community.

"It has been a real testing time for our community and you have all been a part of that," Marysville Mayor Jon Nehring said to attendees. "I can tell you that I am so proud to live in a community like Tulalip/Marysville. We really take care of one another."

Echoing his sentiments Tulalip Tribes vice-chairman Les Parks spoke about Tulalip and Marysville's continual support of one another. "When the mayor stands at my side here, to me it is a symbol of Marysville and the Tulalip people coming together as one community, and Dr. Berg represents all the students in the Marysville School District. To me it is important to remember why we are here. Four months ago this tragedy hit us and we lost four lives to a heinous crime, and we lost the shooter as well. We haven't come to ask why this happened because we will never understand why or what caused this to transpire. What we are going to do is share. We are going to cry together, grieve, heal and pray together. We are all in this together."

Before the service concluded, a moment of silence was held for schools and communities around the world who have experienced the same type of tragedy.

Community Recovery Team launches website

Press Release: Marysville School District

The landing page of the new community recovery team website reads: “We’re All in This Together”. The website is the product of a joint collaboration between the Tulalip Tribes, City of Marysville, and the Marysville School District.

The purpose of the website is to provide stakeholders across the Marysville and Tulalip communities with a common place to find information and resources on healing, hosted events, trainings and details on the larger recovery efforts in the aftermath of the tragic murder/suicide that occurred at the Marysville-Pilchuck High School campus on October 24, 2014.

Since the tragedy, the Tribes, City, School District, and the Marysville and Tulalip leaders, community members, and members in the field of post-trauma events have been meeting regularly to plan and coordinate efforts for the Marysville and Tulalip communities. Through this work, a Community Recovery Team developed and is comprised of members from all three entities including area-wide representation from Victims Support Services, the Ministerial Association, Volunteers of America, American Red Cross, Marysville YMCA, United Way of Snohomish County, and so many more who have come together in support of our youth and communities. The work of the committee has included coordinating trainings, providing resources, holding community meetings, and providing support for the families and victims of the tragedy and others. The website will now consolidate all the information generated by this team into a single website for community members to access.

The website is shared by the Tribes, the City, and the District, and will be updated regularly with new information and events as they are scheduled, resources, and other pertinent information.

The changing conversation about marijuana in Indian country

Tribes attend conference about marijuana legalization at the Tulalip Resort

Submitted by Francesca Hillery, Tulalip Tribes Public Affairs

On February 27th over four hundred tribal officials, legal experts and marijuana industry representatives gathered at the Tulalip Resort to discuss the pros and cons of marijuana legalization and regulation on tribal lands.

Hosted by two Seattle law firms the conference was organized to provide a dialogue on emerging issues around the legalization of marijuana and what this trend potentially represents for federally recognized Indian tribes.

The fact this conversation is happening in Indian Country comes in the wake of an October 2014 memorandum issued by the Department of Justice (DOJ) to its ninety-four U.S. Attorneys.

Known as the “Wilkinson memo” it was written to instruct U.S. Attorneys on federal enforcement of marijuana on tribal lands. The Wilkinson memo actually frames tribal interests against the 2013 “Cole memo” which provides guidance for federal marijuana enforcement in states that have legalized it for medical, agricultural, or recreational use.

These two memos form the basis of what the states and the tribes understand of the federal government’s intentions in the area of marijuana enforcement.

Considering marijuana remains illegal at the federal level, and federal law preempts both state and tribal laws, it explains the caution tribes are exercising when it comes to marijuana legalization.

With the recent trend towards legalization at the state level, including Initiative 502 in Washington State, many tribes requested DOJ clarification over enforcement on tribal lands.

The DOJ has prioritized eight areas of marijuana enforcement. If marijuana-crimes fall within the parameters of these eight priorities, federal enforcement will be applied. The eight priorities:

1. Preventing the distribution of marijuana to minors;
2. Preventing revenue from the sale of marijuana from going to criminal enterprises, gangs, and cartels;
3. Preventing the diversion of marijuana from states where it is legal under state law in some form to other states;
4. Preventing state-authorized marijuana activity from being used as cover or pretext for the trafficking of other illegal drugs or illegal activity;
5. Preventing violence and the use of firearms in the cultivation and distribution of marijuana;
6. Preventing drugged driving and the exacerbation of other adverse public health consequences associated with marijuana use;
7. Preventing the growing of marijuana on public lands and the attendant public safety and environmental dangers posed by marijuana production on public lands; and
8. Preventing marijuana possession or use on federal property.

Many are interpreting this to mean the following: if a state or tribe has a robust regulatory system in place, that both uphold and defend the eight federal enforcement priorities, the federal government will not interfere.

Unfortunately, the sentence following the eight priorities in the Wilkinson memos states, “...nothing herein precludes investigation or prosecution, even in the absence of any one of the factors . . . in particular circumstances where the investigation and prosecution otherwise serve an important federal interest.” In other words, the federal government decides what is in its interest on marijuana issues in the states and on tribal lands.

Another area of tension lies in the jurisdictional morass of Public Law 280 states where the federal government gave criminal jurisdiction over tribal lands to the states. No one knows how this will play out in the short term.

“There are no clear answers when you add in the Indian law component. It is not simple, it is not clear, and if anyone who is telling you it is: they are either foolish, or they are lying to you,” said Robert Odawi Porter, one of the conference organizers.

Native Plants and Medicinal Herbs classes begins March 15

By Micheal Rios

The Hibulb Cultural Center and Natural History Preserve's Rediscovery Program is offering Tulalip tribal members an exciting new class to reconnect with their traditional culture. The class is part of a series of classes entitled 'Native Plants and Medicinal Herbs' that will be ongoing during the traditional harvesting season, early spring to late fall. The series of classes will focus on teaching tribal members how to collect, garden, harvest, and process native plants and herbs that are indigenous to the Tulalip region. The first of a full series of native plant gardening classes will take place Sunday, March 15, starting promptly at 9:00 a.m. and ending at 4:00 p.m., at the Center's facility classroom.

"Our plants are our medicine. They nourish our bodies and feed our spirit," says Inez Bill, Rediscovery Coordinator. "We want to see our people gardening and harvesting the plants and herbs that our people have used historically. So we are starting this brand new series of classes that will help pass on the values and teachings of our ancestors. Hopefully, by taking the classes, our people will begin to use these plants at their homes and grow them in their gardens for their own use."

Over the past four years, the Rediscovery Program has hosted its

'Gardening Together as Families' classes that emphasized teaching our tribal membership how to grow their own organic vegetable gardens. The Rediscovery Program staff think that the time is right to shift from a general theme of organic vegetables to one that specifically tailors to the traditional gardening customs of our Tulalip ancestors. By reintroducing the Tulalip people to native plants and herbs that were once used by our ancestors for generations.

Throughout this new series of native plant gardening classes, there will be a primary focus of working with and getting familiar with the many uses of five major native plants; the stinging nettle, fireweed, giant horsetail, the Nootka Rose, and mountain huckleberry. There will be other native plants worked with as well, to supplement the uses and knowledge that come from working with the five major native plants.

To participate in the first class in this new series, the Rediscovery Program staff ask that you please RSVP ahead of time by calling Virginia Jones at (360) 716-2635 and leave a brief message with your name and how many family members will be attending with you. The initial class will be accepting 20 tribal member participants, so RSVP your spot as soon as possible.

Also, all those who will be participating in the native plant gardening class should remember to bring garden gloves and paper bags.

Animated preschool aboriginal series, 'Bizou'

By Roger Vater

During the week of March 16 - 22 on Tulalip TV, Channel 99 on Tulalip Broadband or streaming live on <http://www.tulaliptv.com> you can watch a new episode of the series "Bizou - Episode 7 (Bizou and the Raven)" at 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., featuring a portion spoken in Lushootseed by 'Kitty Catfish.'

Bizou is a lively, animated, preschool series that explores the wonderful world of animals as seen through the eyes of a cheerful little Aboriginal princess named Bizou.

Through storytelling, sing-alongs, book readings, live-action animal footage, colorful illustrations and animation, children learn to appreciate the connection between each other and the wonderful world of animals that surround them. Each episode is a picturesque journey into the world of animals, what they look like, where they live, what they eat, and how they play.

Working together with our Lushootseed Language Department, we translated a portion of each of the 36 episodes of Bizou into Tulalip Lushootseed, where animals and native items are illustrated and taught using Lushootseed. Children will enjoy hearing traditional stories and legends, while learning to speak Lushootseed in a fun and exciting way.

Come sing and dance with Bizou as she takes you on a picturesque journey into the wonderful world of Ravens, totem to the kings.

Hawks rally back to force OT, but are held scoreless in extra period, lose 71-77

Canter Robert Miles pushes the offense tempo during a 12-3 run in the 4th quarter by the Hawks.

Article/photos by Micheal Rios

The No. 5 Tulalip Heritage Hawks (17-7) traveled to Mt. Vernon Christian High School on Saturday, February 21 to play their last Tri-District 1B Boys Tournament. Their opponent was the No. 7 Mount Rainer Lutheran Hawks (17-8) out of Parkland, Washington. Both teams had already clinched a berth in the upcoming 1B Boys Regional Tournament, but were playing for seeding purposes. The winner would be assigned the 5th seed and play the Lummi Blackhawks in regionals, while the loser would get the 6th seed and play the Entiat Tigers in regionals.

For the Tulalip Hawks, the 1st quarter showcased their 3-point shooting skills. Shooting guard Ayrik Miranda caught fire from deep and made back-to-back 3-pointers to score the first six points for the Hawks. Point guard Jesse Louie did an admirable job of getting the ball to the wide-open Hawk shooters and dished out five assists in the opening quarter. Louie assisted on two more 3-pointers later in the quarter, one each made by Miranda and guard Dontae Jones, before pulling up and scoring a 3-pointer of his own.

At the end of the 1st quarter the Tulalip Hawks led 24-18, had shot 6-11 from 3-point land, and were led by the 13 first quarter points scored by Miranda.

The tide quickly turned in the 2nd quarter as Mt. Rainer Lutheran went a 9-3 run in the first two minutes to tie the game at 27-27. The Hawks hot shooting did not carry over into the 2nd quarter as they shot only 1-7 on 3-pointers in the quarter. When the shots stopped falling the Hawks ran their offense through the slash and kick game of Louie and center Robert Miles. Louie and Miles combined to score 14 of the 16 Hawks points scored in the 2nd quarter.

With 2:10 remaining until halftime the Hawks trailed by only one point, 40-41. There were some defensive lapses in the final two minutes for the Hawks which allowed Mt. Rainer Lutheran to finish the half on a 6-0 run. At halftime the Hawks were down 40-47.

“Shots aren’t falling for us right now, while they are hitting everything. We’re getting down on ourselves and forgetting to guard, forgetting to contest shots, and forgetting to box out,” coach Marlin Fryberg said to his players. “It’s your attitudes right now that is hurting you most. We all don’t like losing. This game is not over, there are two more quarters to play. Pump each other up and realize we’ll win this game if we play our game.”

“We are shooting way too many threes right now. We were hot in the beginning but have gone cold. Get to the middle of their defense and attack if the opportunity is there. You guys have to play better defense if we are going to win this game. Box out and get those rebounds. Offensively, attack! Stop settling for threes,” added coach Cyrus “Bubba” Fryberg.

In the 3rd quarter Mt. Rainer Lutheran extended their lead to a game-high 11 points, 59-48, after sinking a 3-pointer with just over one minute remaining in the quarter. The Tulalip Hawks called a timeout and out of the timeout the players huddled together, letting each other know they were still in this game. That moment was a turning point as the Hawks got their second wind and were flying all over the court. They forced two steals in the final minute and converted both turnovers into points on their end. Going into the final quarter of the play the Hawks trailed 53-59.

In the 4th quarter the Hawks continued their aggressive defensive tactics and driving to the hoop offensively. After Louie scored consecutive buckets the Hawks were only down two points, 57-59 with 7:00 remaining, leading to a Mt. Rainier Lutheran timeout. Following their timeout, Mt. Rainier Lutheran went on a 7-2 run to push their lead to 7 points, 66-59, with 5:00 to go. The Tulalip Hawks then answered with a 12-3 run of their own. They were forcing turnovers and attacking the basket resulting in easy shots or free-throw attempts. After coming all the way back to tie the game 69-69 with just over one minute remaining, Robert Miles came up with the ball on a broken play and scored a layup to put the Hawks up 71-69 with only forty-seven seconds left. The Hawks dug in defensively and stopped their opponents from scoring on consecutive possessions.

With only thirteen seconds to play Mt. Rainer Lutheran had no other choice but to intentionally foul in order to get the ball back. They fouled forward Anthony McLean, sending him to the free-throw line for a 1-and-1 situation. McLean missed the first free-throw that was rebounded by Mt. Rainer Lutheran stand out Mitchell Pelissier who dribbled the length of the court, seemingly through the entire Hawks team, and scored a game tying layup to force overtime.

In overtime the Hawks were visibly exhausted from exerting so much defensive effort in order to claw their way back into this game. On offense they were no longer attacking the hoop, the strategy that was successful the previous two quarters, and were instead settling for shooting contested 3-pointers. Mt. Rainier Lutheran took clear advantage of the exhausted Hawk players and pushed the tempo each time they got the ball. They scored easily at the rim on both their made field goals in overtime. That was all they needed as the Hawks were unable to score in the extra period, going 0-7 from the floor. The Hawks lost the game 71-77.

Basketball season comes to an abrupt end for Hawks as they lose Class 1B regional game 40-74

Article/photos by Micheal Rios

On Saturday, February 28, the Tulalip Heritage Hawks (17-8) traveled to Wenatchee High School to play in the Class 1B regionals as the No. 6 seed from their district. Their opponent was the Entiat Tigers (21-1) who were the No. 1 seed from their district. The winner of this game would receive an automatic bid to the state tournament, while the loser would be knocked out and sent home.

The 1st quarter got off to a very rough start for the Hawks as they struggled offensively. The players were having difficulty attacking the Tigers well-disciplined defense. Not getting the close-range shots they are accustomed to, the Hawks began settling for 3-pointers. Meanwhile, on the defense side of the ball, the Hawks were doing their best to contain Entiat's senior guard Truong Tran while staying within their defensive scheme. At the end of the 1st quarter the Hawks trailed 6-16.

The 2nd quarter was a near duplicate of the 1st quarter, with the Hawks struggling mightily to find any kind of offensive rhythm. The Tigers' No. 1 seed was validated in how sound they were defensively. The Tigers routinely helped on defense while not over helping, had a hand up to contest jump shots, and clogged the paint to force the Hawks to continue shooting 3-pointers. When the halftime buzzer sounded the Hawks found themselves in a 14-31 deficit. The 14 1st half points was a season low for the Hawks.

During the 2nd half, any kind of scoring run the Hawks attempted to go on was outmatched by the Tigers. Point guard Jesse Louie and center Robert Miles did their best to force the issue offensively to give their team must needed buckets, but it wasn't close to enough as the total team effort from the Entiat Tigers was just too much to overcome. The Tigers would outscore the Hawks 18-15 in the 3rd quarter and a resounding 25-11 in the 4th quarter to win the game 74-40.

The final total of only 40 points scored by the Hawks was a result of just how good the Tigers' defense is combined with the shooting struggles of a Hawks team known for its ability to knock down 3-pointers. For the game the Hawks shot just 23 percent from the field, 14 made baskets on 59 attempts, and a disparaging 3-29 from beyond the 3-point line.

Robert Miles (15 points) and Jesse Louie (12 points) led the Hawks in scoring.

The loss ends the basketball season for the Hawks, who finish their season with a 17-9 record. It was a successful season for the Hawks as they finished 2nd in their league, 6th in the Tri-District tournament, and received a berth in the regional round. The Hawks will be looking to rebuild their team next season as they will be without the services of current seniors Jesse Louie, Ayrik Miranda, Dontae Jones and Anthony McLean.

The 2014-2015 Tulalip Hawks team finished their season with a 17-9 record.

‘Remote Gambling’

Gambling at your Fingertips - Everywhere

Remote gambling is any form of gambling in which a person does not need to be physically present. It can be conducted from the safety of a gambler’s own home, car, airplane, street corner, café, school room, board room, or any place a remote device is operable.

What makes Remote Gambling a growing concern?

- It is immediate – accessed from anywhere, anytime
- It is a solitary endeavor
- It is even more hidden than other forms of gambling
- Others know that it is a problem only after their lives have been painfully effected

Remote gambling includes:

- Internet sites which includes any form of betting imaginable
- Mobile devices for text messaging and internet/web access
- Cell phone, telephone
- Interactive TV

Facts on Remote Gambling:

- Internet has over 2,500 gambling sites and the number is growing daily
- Online poker has over 400 websites and is growing daily
- Presently there are over 5 million transactions conducted per day, or an average of about 300 bets per second
- There is no US regulation on how the sites control payouts and percentages of payoffs. The sites could manipulate the gambler to think they are skilled and can outplay the others on the site. Once winning and playing with greater amounts of money the site could decrease the gamblers odds and take the winnings back with interest.

Attractive to persons who:

- Want immediate access
- Are socially shy and lack confidence
- Prefer privacy
- Are uncomfortable with physical nearness to others
- Disabled and do not want to be seen as different
- Want to decrease social barriers based on sex, race, age, disability
- Want to be someone they are not

Remote Gambling makes the gambler feel:

- Disinhibited – people do and say things in cyberspace that they wouldn’t ordinarily say in the real world.
- Interactive with others without face to face contact
- As if they can escape and get away from the real world
- Intelligent, skilled, and all powerful until they start losing

Thoughts of the Remote Gambler

- You don’t know me – anonymity
- You can’t see me – invisibility
- See you later – don’t relate in real time, wait for messages
- It’s just a game – real money does not change hands – it’s all credits
- We’re equals – authority really does not exist

What Remote Gambling Provides

- Gratification: No waiting, instant
- Anticipation: Removed, instant action, adrenaline rush
- Companion: Always there when needed
- Fantasy: Takes you to it, change persona, gender bender
- Expression: In a private world, more satisfying than real life

- Ego: Boosts fragile/bruised ego
- Constraints: Lacking boundaries. Limit only by extent cash/credit
- Chasing: Several times a day. PC is a beckoning finger. (Bellringer, 2006)
- A Chance: to lose financial resources, friends, jobs, family, freedom, etc.

Remote gambling does not include face-to-face encounters. It is solitary and unmonitored. Awareness of this problem needs to be a family matter – the people most likely to discover the gambling problem are family, friends and those closest to the gambler.

Keeping Your Kidney's Healthy

March is Kidney Health Awareness Month, the diabetes program and Puget Sound Kidney Center is working together for a special Diabetes Day event, March 17th from 9:00-3:00

By Dr. Pamela R. Keech, submitted by Veronica Leahy, Tulalip Health Clinic

As a kidney doctor, or nephrologist, I'm often asked to share why the kidneys are so important to our health. The kidneys are amazing organs that work hard to keep our bodies healthy in many ways.

Most people have two kidneys located on either side of their spine. Each kidney is about the size of your fist and receives 20% of the blood that comes from your heart. The kidneys can be compared to wetlands as they purify the blood and stabilize the body in much the same way as our wetlands filter harmful substances from water bodies in the environment.

Here's what our kidneys do for our bodies:

- Filtering: Each kidney contains approximately one million filters that work to remove unwanted waste products and excess fluid.
- Balance Electrolytes: Your kidneys help keep important electrolytes in your body in balance.
- Maintain a Normal pH: Your kidneys regulate your pH balance in your body.
- Blood Pressure Control: The kidneys are key in controlling your blood pressure. They do this by removing excess salt and water that can raise your blood pressure.
- Red Blood Cell Production: Your kidneys make a messenger called erythropoietin that tells your bone marrow to make blood. Without this messenger, your body will not make enough blood and you will become anemic (low blood).
- Maintain Healthy Bones: Your kidneys are involved in activating vitamin D in your body and regulating calcium and phosphorus to promote healthy bones.

Keeping your kidneys healthy is essential to good health and yet many of us know very little about our kidneys and kidney disease. It is important to understand what the indications of kidney disease are and how we can work to avoid or delay its onset.

Did you know?

- An estimated one in 7 adults has kidney disease
- Kidney disease increases your chance of having heart disease, heart attacks and strokes

- If you have kidney disease you are more likely to die at a younger age
- Having high blood pressure and diabetes greatly increase your risk of having kidney disease

How Do I Know If I Have Kidney Disease?

Most kidney disease is silent. When symptoms do occur, there are six major warning signs you should look for:

- A change in the frequency or pattern of urination
- Burning during urination
- Blood or coffee colored urine
- Swelling of the feet, face or stomach
- Flank (mid back) pain
- High blood pressure

Other common symptoms of chronic kidney disease include:

- Fatigue
- Inability to concentrate
- Difficulty sleeping at night
- Itchy and dry skin
- Muscle cramps
- Decreased appetite, especially for meat
- Nausea and vomiting, especially in the morning
- Always feeling cold
- Burning or loss of feeling in feet and hands

As you can see, symptoms of kidney disease are not very specific. Many other diseases can cause similar symptoms. That is why it is important to have your kidneys checked by blood and urine tests on a regular basis.

What Can You Do To Help Your Kidneys?

There are many things you can do to prolong the life of your kidneys and improve your overall health if you have kidney disease.

- Watch Your Blood Pressure: Controlling your blood pressure is the single most important thing you can do to help prolong the life of your kidneys.
- Keep Your Salt Intake to a Minimum (preferably less than 2,000 mg per day): Remember that eating out and most prepared foods are loaded with salt! One can of soup can contain more than 2,500 mg of salt all by itself.
- Avoid High Protein Diets: A good rule of thumb is to have one serving of protein per meal. A serving is about the size of a deck of cards.
- Avoid Over The Counter Anti-Inflammatories (ibuprofen, Advil, Motrin, etc): If you have kidney disease you should try to avoid these medications. If you do not have kidney disease, use these medications only as needed. Should you have to use them on a regular basis, make sure your kidneys are checked by your doctor.
- Maintain a Healthy Weight: Excess weight not only puts increased stress on your kidneys it also increases blood pressure and increases your risk of diabetes.

- Exercise, Exercise, Exercise: Exercise improves mood, helps maintain a healthy weight and helps control blood pressure. The more you can move, the better you will feel.
- Watch Your Cholesterol: People with kidney disease are at increased risk of heart disease. Reducing risk of heart disease will help you live a longer and healthier life.
- Have Your Kidneys Checked on a Regular Basis: Having your kidneys checked on a regular basis can help identify problems before it is too late.
- If You Have Diabetes, Control Your Blood Sugars: Over 40% of all kidney failure is caused by diabetes. Uncontrolled diabetes also leads to heart disease, blood vessel disease, loss of limbs and blindness. Controlling your blood sugar can help save more than just your kidney function, it can help save your life.

Taking steps to care for your kidneys will decrease your chance of having kidney disease and improve your overall health.

Are you for or against the Tulalip Tribes entering the marijuana business, and why?

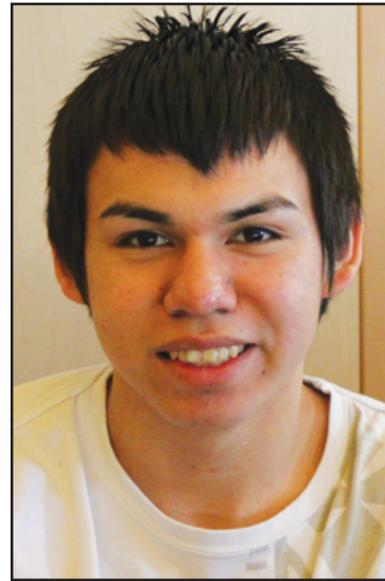

"Against. I think it would send the wrong message to our youth if as a tribe we got involved with the big business of marijuana. It would set a double standard for all those people who have used or grown marijuana and lost their house or got excluded from the reservation, but the tribe growing is now acceptable.

Ena Thornton
Tribal Member

"I'm Switzerland; I'm neutral"

Rachel Mowrer
Tribal Member

"I am against. Mainly because people abuse marijuana for their own personal use. Even if Tulalip were going to use it for medical purposes only, people would still find a way to abuse it."

Moses Williams
Tribal Member

"I'm on the fence. Anything mind-altering is questionable and people can potentially abuse it. If we were to use it for medical research and for medical purposes only then I don't have a problem. As a tribe we need to know more about how we'd use it before coming to any decisions."
