Newly elected board members sworn in, begin three-year terms

Tulalip Board Treasurer Les Parks swearing in Marlin Fryberg Jr. and Mel Sheldon Jr.

By Mike Sarich, Communications
Newly elected board members, Marlin Fryberg Jr. and Mel Sheldon Jr. were sworn in to begin their three-year terms on Saturday, April 4, 2015 at the Tulalip Tribes Administration Building.

Tulalip tribal members selected Mel Sheldon Jr. to serve as Chairman. Glen Gobin will serve as Vice-Chairman, Les Parks is Tulalip's new Treasurer and Marie Zackuse will resume her office as Board Secretary.

"It's great to be back on the board. I had a year to think about things and I'm thinking of how we can communicate with the membership and what we can do to get information out to them," said Sheldon.

During the meeting, Sheldon thanked Deborah Parker for her service and commitment to the Tulalip people.

"Today as Deborah Parker finishes her last day, I hold my hands to her. I was thinking about her time on the Board and the things that she's done, not only for our community, but across Indian country," said Sheldon. "Her interaction with VAWA. Her story. She became a game changer; she was an impact player, and a leader throughout this process. We at Tulalip Tribes are very proud of her contribution, her courage to stand up and tell her story. And we know that whatever journey she gets on, that journey will always lead back to Tulalip and we'll be waiting with open arms for her."

Tulalip Board of Directors Reports

By Niki Cleary

In an effort to bring our citizens the most current information about our government, the See-Yaht-Sub staff will be asking our Board to sit down after both General Council meetings and regular Board Meetings to chat about the decisions that affect our Tribe.

After the April Regular Board Meeting we interviewed Mel Sheldon. Theresa Sheldon is travelling, but committed to an interview in the following See-Yaht-Sub. No other Board of Directors responded to the request for an interview.

Mel Sheldon takes the reigns

Newly re-elected chairman reflects on the past and goals for the future

By Niki Cleary

The Tuesday after being sworn in as a Tulalip Board of Director and Chairman on April 4th, Mel Sheldon sat down with the See-Yaht-Sub to talk about what he's done in the last year away from the Board and what he hopes to accomplish in the future. Sheldon's election platform included a dedication to transparency, financial responsibility and communication.

"I was humbled and honored to be elected back onto the Board," said Sheldon. "I spent a lot of time reflecting about how I can serve our community in a better way. The trust between leadership and our community is always an area that we need improve. We're going to get there by developing transparency, sharing knowledge with our community and working together."

A year of heartache

Asked to reflect on the past year, Sheldon pointed out that it's been a painful and shocking time for Tulalip. However, even during the hurt and chaos he sees opportunity.

"The big elephant in the room is the MPHS shooting and everything that's come after," said Sheldon. "Our community has been through so much trauma this year and it feels like we're pulling away from each other. We have anger, blame and confusion, a whole range of emotions going through our community. I'm very concerned about how we treat each other and why, what is driving the way we treat each other right now.

"One of the topics that came up at General Council was domestic and sexual violence," Sheldon continued. "This is an area of great concern to us. How do we protect our women, children, all of our people, from the different types of violence? More importantly, how do we break the cycle of violence and that code of silence that victims have lived with for years?"

Education, Sheldon believes, is the key. He explained that the tribe is also committed to refining services to make sure victims have the support they need.

"I'll do whatever I can as our Chairman and one of our leaders to try to get us through this healing process. It will take time. Recovering from trauma is a process and it's not a straight line. Sometimes we will get worse again before we get better. But I believe that everyone wants to heal, and we want to be closer again as a community."

Building our team

"When I ran for the board I really focused on transparency, financial responsibility and communication," said Sheldon. "During my campaign I did a lot of listening. I listened to our community, but I also heard the voice of the other candidates and we were all bringing forward very similar concerns. In the past I dropped the ball by not keeping our membership informed, not explaining where we were going as a tribe and more importantly why we were moving in that direction.

"I want to be part of a team," Sheldon declared. "I want a team on the Board of Directors, a dialogue of cooperation and support. Sure, we all represent different constituents and different causes, but at the end of the day we need to be a team to make better decisions for all of our people."

Teamwork doesn't stop at the Board level. Sheldon explained that in order for the tribe to grow and build, Tulalip's citizens have to be engaged.

"That team concept includes our people," he said. "It's a blend of sharing information with our community, coming to our people for direction on some issues and doing our job as a Board by making decisions and taking responsibility for our decisions.

"Each Board of Director has their own threshold for what we need to do and what we need to bring before the people," Sheldon acknowledged. "Personally, I want to rebuild my rapport with our people. This year I want to get back to some of the habits I practiced in my first years on our Board. I want to spend time with our people, whether that's with our elders during their monthly Bingo session, or Friday mornings with our kids at Heritage High School, or just coffee at the Marina on a more regular basis. I want to know in my heart that the decisions I make, while they may not always come before the membership for a vote, they still reflect the values of our people."

Going forward

"I'm always available for our people, that's why you elected me Chairman," asserted Sheldon. "I am committed to sharing information, whether that's through community meetings, one-on-one, via Facebook or other media. But I want to level with our people too, there are times when I'm not going to share all the information in every venue. Please believe that if I don't answer, or don't answer right away, there is a good reason.

"I have a responsibility to protect the Tribe's competitive advantage, so I'm not going to put our financials on Facebook. I have a responsibility to all of our citizens and employees, so I won't answer requests for another person's confidential information. Sometimes I'm trying find out both sides of an issue, I'm looking for the most accurate and complete information before I respond, or I'm simply upholding the trust that you have in me by not sharing confidential information that I have access to as Chair."

Tulalip is at a crucial moment in our evolution, Sheldon said.

"It seems like we are at a tipping point in many different areas. When I was elected Chairman the very first time, a reporter asked me what I'd like my legacy to be," Sheldon reminisced. "I stated then, and I still believe this, I want our services to be leading edge. I want other tribes to come to Tulalip and ask how we were able to accomplish so much. I want our team to provide resources, education and opportunity to our citizens. Given opportunity, I know our people will rise to the occasion and succeed.”

Sheldon also committed to showing membership that their Board of Directors are a good investment. “There are a number of mistrusts out there. People don’t believe the financials. People think that someone is getting favorable treatment. At the end of the day, I think our people just want to know that we, the Board, are providing value for our wages. I want to rebuild our community’s confidence in the Board.” Sheldon said monthly finance meetings, advance notice about policy changes and dialogue are some of the strategies for improving the relationship.

“I believe in our people and I believe in the resilience of our community,” said Sheldon. “I believe that given the right tools we, Tulalip, will regain our balance. I value our people. I value our citizens, our employees and our leaders. We are not perfect. I’m not perfect, but I am committed to laying a foundation for our future just as our ancestors laid the foundation for what we’ve achieved so far.”

Heritage Hawks basketball awards banquet

On Thursday, April 2, the annual awards banquet was held to recognize the Heritage Hawks basketball players. This year’s banquet took place at Alfy’s Pizza in Marysville. All the Hawks and Lady Hawks players attended, accompanied by their family and friends who cheered them on throughout the basketball season.

Each player from both the Hawks and Lady Hawks teams received a participation award congratulating them for playing varsity basketball. A second award was given to each player that was specifically personalized to commemorate something special they did on the court or brought to the team.

Cyrus “Bubba” Fryberg, Lady Hawks coach, opened up the girls’ awards ceremony by thanking each and every one of his players for making the best out of their season, “First of all I’d like to thank everyone for being here and taking the time to come and finish up the season. The girls worked really hard and played really hard and we had fun. Practices were really fun and I thought we really gave the effort I expected. Early in the season there really weren’t many girls playing. We only had five Lady Hawks for our first several games, so we had to really start recruiting girls to come out and play. After we did that, then we had a full team and really started to play. It took a few week to build up that sense of team with all the new girls, but they all played hard. I really want to thank my girls for all their hard work, especially the seniors.

“Going into next year, for the girls coming back, we are going to keep working hard and to continue focusing on improving as a team. We have six girls coming back and we expect to add more girls onto the team. I just want to thank you all for doing what I asked on the floor and off the floor and for making this season a fun one for the players and the coaches. I really appreciated all the hard work we put in to improving and we’ll continue to work on doing better things next year.”

The following list is the name of each personalized award handed out to the Lady Hawks and the player who received the award.

Award:	Player:
Rookie of the Year	Larissa Menser
Most Coachable	Shaelynn Sanchez
Most Dedicated	Cyena Fryberg
Most Inspirational	Mikaylee Pablo
Best Defender	Jaylin Rivera
Most Rebounds	Nina Fryberg

Captain’s Award & Miss Hustle:
Myrna Red Leaf

Captain’s Award, Best Offensive Player & Most Outstanding Player: Michelle Iukes

Marlin Fryberg, Hawks coach, opened up the boys’ awards ceremony by saying, “I want to thank all the families who are here to support your children, and I want to say thank you to all the high school faculty staff who are here for our kids. To my players, I hope you all recognize that the time and work you have put into this game together has created a friendship and bond between you all that will last the rest of your lives.

“This season was a mediocre one. We all know that it could have been better, that we could have been better. We’ll use this season and learn from it so that we can continue to develop the team for next year.”

The following list is the name of each personalized award handed out to the Hawks and the player who received the award.

Award:	Player:
Rookie of the Year	Nashone Whitebear
Most Improved	Anthony McLean
Most Rebounds	Willy Enick
Mr. Hustle	Dontae Jones

“The annual meeting of the Tulalip Tribal Council was called to order at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the Tulalip community hall by Chairman Wilfred Steve. There were forty-five qualified members of the council present. Invocation was made by Frank LeClaire. Immediately after invocation, a song, ‘America the Beautiful’ was sung by Wayne Williams, Marie Sneatlum, Jane Williams and Herman Williams, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Harriette Shelton Williams. ... The chairman asked for the returns of the election. ...It came as quite a surprise to many of the voters to find that Lawrence Williams, one of the prominent leaders of the community defeated Wilfred Steve in the chairmanship, since Mr. Steve has occupied that position in the old tribal council and the new Board of Directors for many years. Mr. Steve was defeated by three votes. Martin Jim Fryberg, who came near receiving as many votes as Arthur Hatch, received tumultuous applause when he rose to congratulate the new Board members. After discussion on various Indian problems the meeting adjourned at 7 p.m.” “Annual Elections Tulalip Results In Surprise:

“A meeting was held between the City of Marysville Mayor, Snohomish County PUD and State Transportation Division to begin the development of street lighting and public transportation on our Reservation. We are receiving cooperative efforts from our local neighbors and we should have this going in a timely manner.” “Tribal Chairman’s Monthly Report For March 1990: STREET LIGHTING PROGRAM.” See-Yaht-Sub Newsletter, Mar. 1990: (2).

“The Tribes have hired an Anthropologist to do studies on our Reservation. One of our tribal members uncovered an artifact and reported immediately to the tribes of this find. Appropriate action was taken so the area would not be disturbed by anyone. We appreciate those who are caring and want to preserve our history by taking care and handling a delicate situation such as this tribal member had. The Tribes offered $100 for the artifact which was a bone spear...” “Tribal Chairman’s Monthly Report For March 1990: HIRING OF ANTHROPOLOGIST.” See-Yaht-Sub Newsletter, Mar. 1990: (2).

“The current enrollment for Project Salmon is 23, with many of these students on home study. We are proud to announce that a total of 8 students completed their classes for the first semester, with a total of 12 that completed at least a quarter credit, or more. ...The Project Salmon students have been very busy...they have completed the following activities:

On December 14, the Tulalip ALC visited the Everett Public Library, where the students learned to research for book and materials. On December 19, the Tulalip ALC held a Christmas party...We had a pot luck luncheon brought by staff and guests. On January 16, the Tulalip ALC attended the ‘Changing Spirit Indian Arts exhibition’, at the Seattle Art Center...On January 30, Arlen James, who is the instructor for Project Salmon, conducted a Homework workshop for 22 parents of Indian Children, in the Tulalip Tribal Center’s People’s room... On February 14, Project Salmon visited the Guy Anderson art exhibition at the Bellevue Art Museum...” “INDIAN EDUCATION REPORT PROJECT SALMON.” See-Yaht-Sub Newsletter, Mar. 1990: (18).

“A proposed new alignment for Fire Trail Road, characterized by officials as the most dangerous stretch of road in Snohomish County, will be considered at a public hearing this week. ...Fire Trail Road marks the northern border of the Tulalip Reservation. It’s also known as 140th Street NE, and has an accident rate 11 times greater than the average county road, according to county records. The road is fraught with dips, curves and steep inclines, and several lives have been lost there over the past few years, primarily in a two-mile stretch that changes abruptly from asphalt to gravel. Last September, the county council voted to modify realignment plans made in 1987. The plan called for eliminating the gravel stretch and building a connecting road branching north toward the Kayak Point Golf Course at 156th Avenue NW and then west to Marine Drive. The new plan spearheaded by developer Dave Hudson firm, changes the route and runs the planned road farther along the old road and through land where the firm intends to market 20-acre homesites. ...The current change is because the council had the opportunity to come up with a new alignment for the road at a much reduced cost, because the developer offered to pay for most of the improvements.” Gorman, Scott. “Hearing set on new plan to realign Fire Trail.” The Herald (Everett), 12 Mar. 1990: 3B.

“It seems north Snohomish County has been discovered. Major projects fill drawing boards or can be seen in the works along the I-5 corridor from Marysville to Arlington. ‘...A number of clients are very interested in north county,’ said John Thoresen, president of the Snohomish County Economic Development Council. He said those clients include distributors, food processors, circuit-board makers and pharmaceutical companies. ‘No doubt about it. The future of the industrial growth of this county is north of Marysville. The two areas that bear significant attention are the Tulalip lands and the lands between Marysville and Arlington...’ ...The Tulalip Tribes is in the process of developing a comprehensive plan for a 2,000-acre-tract west of I-5 between 116th St. and 88th St. Jim Cameron, project director for the tribes said the property needs a freeway interchange at 88th St. and I-5 to really make it go. The tribes plan a 20-year phased development that will attract light manufacturers and distributors ‘to distribute their products either way from Seattle to Vancouver,’ Cameron said.” Brennan, Mike. “Northwest Trek: Next major boom in new industry foreseen for area.” The Herald (Everett), 25 Mar. 1990: 1H-2H.

“Indian students and staff were presented with Second Quarter Awards recently in the Tulalip Tribal Peoples Room. The Indian Education Award went to Marysville-Philchuck High School teacher, Gordon Rye. Tillie Jones, a fifth grader at Tulalip Elementary School was awarded the Indian Student of the Quarter... The Academic Achievement Award was presented to Kendra Gobin, a fourth grade student at Tulalip Elementary School...The Individual Improvement Award went to Louie Pablo, also a fourth grader at Tulalip Elementary School. Kristie Fryberg was the Student of the Quarter for the first quarter of the school year.” Wright, Roberta Photographer. “Indian Students Receive Awards.” Marysville Globe, 21 (14) Mar. 1990:17.

“Last week-end 21 7th and 8th grade girl basketball players, 2 coaches, a manager and several parents, made the trek to Yakima to participate in an AAU basketball tournament. Both the ‘Marysville Red’ (composed of 7th grade players) and the ‘Marysville

White’ (8th graders) teams competed in the 14 and under age division. The ‘Red’ team won 1 game over an 8th grade group from Pateros and Brewster, while the ‘White’ team won twice including a one pointer over a team of mostly 9th graders, from Connell. ...14 & Under Marysville White Jenny Anderson, Kam Kruik, Jarynn Howard, Patty Leng, Heather Gobin, Missy Bauer, Josey Gandee, Tammy Wagner, Marni Manley, Jenny Ostergaard, Carrie Hoffman, Threa Quast (sick), Manager Jody Lundeburg. Marysville Red Erica Evans, Amy Busby, Jamie Jefferson, Shannon Randles, Jamie Gillies, Mindy Nowak, Shevaun Seibert, Natalie Bowie, Tonya Comenote, Christy Angelshaug...” Giusti, Mike. “M’ville girls to Yakima.” Marysville Globe, 21 Mar. 1990:15.

College preparation for 9th-11th graders

Submitted by Jeanne Steffener, Higher ED

Most high school freshmen, sophomores and juniors are probably more concerned with just navigating from class to class than thinking of anything remotely relating to “college”. NOW is the time to start mapping out a plan to get from freshman through senior year and then on to a two-year or four-year college. In fact, a lot of students actually begin their planning in 8th grade by including freshman year in that plan.

Some things to keep in mind when thinking of “college”:

- It can be pretty much FREE when you add in Federal financial aid, scholarships and a trip to the Higher ED department to fill out the right forms.
- You can go to a great school and learn a lot about yourself and the world.
- Get an awesome job and help cure some of the world’s ills.

The courses a student takes in the 9th grade set the stage for 10th grade and beyond. The first step would be to speak with a counselor. Find out what are the required courses for each year of high school. Next see which courses initially interest you above and beyond the core college bound curriculum.

It is never too early to think about college and the costs associated with going to college. The Higher ED department has a great resource called “Education Resources Handbook” which can help students see what is actually needed. Continue to put those extra dollars into your college fund.

Get involved in extra-curricular activities. Participation in these activities is an important factor for college admissions and scholarship applications. Being involved in student life is also great for expanding your horizons. Beware of overindulging if it begins impacting your grades. Grades are also really important for college admissions.

Register for the PSAT (pre-SAT). PSAT is the Preliminary SAT. This test is taken in the student’s sophomore year. This is a great opportunity to practice for the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test). SAT is a test administered to students preparing for college admissions. The SAT tests what matters most for college readiness. A “new” version of SAT goes into effect in the spring of 2016. <https://sat.collegeboard.org/home>

Junior year is a very important year in your high school career. Colleges specifically look at a student’s last two years of high school. Stay in-

involved with extra-curricular activities. These years begin to define your career interests. Participation in clubs, athletics, music groups, journalism, drama and other activities will indicate where your interests in life will be.

In your junior year, you should seriously begin looking at schools. The internet is a great way to search for colleges or universities. This article, “How to Choose a College that’s Right for You” written by Martha O’Connell for National Public Radio is a good way to begin your search for the perfect college. I have included the website for your convenience. <http://www.npr.org/2010/12/08/7506102/how-to-choose-a-college-that-s-right-for-you>. Also, look in our “Education Resources Handbook”. This book has lots of good information to make your decisions to attend college easier. You can pick one up in the Higher ED department. We can also mail one to you if you are out of the area. It is a really good idea to visit the top schools on your list to see if they will be a good fit.

Are you looking for more information to help you on your educational journey? Come speak with the staff in the Higher ED department. We can help you find the answers to some of those questions. Please give us a call at 360-716-4888 or email us at highered@tulaliptribes-nsn.gov.

The role of public libraries

Submitted by Jeanne Steffener, Higher ED

What are public libraries? Public libraries are a very special breed of animal. They serve as a gateway to knowledge and culture. These libraries play a fundamental role in a community and in society at large. The resources and services that they offer create opportunities for learning and support both literacy and education. They also help ensure an authentic record of knowledge created and accumulated by past generations. In a world without libraries, it would be difficult to advance research and human knowledge or preserve the world's cumulative knowledge and heritage for future generations. Libraries are rich repositories of historically and culturally significant collections, many of which are not available anywhere else in the world.

Libraries represent different things to different people. Perspectives range from the mom who takes her child to story time, to the student involved in study and research, to a service where anyone can borrow a book and access the internet for research. Basically, libraries offer us the ability to gain access to knowledge.

Public libraries and education can be considered interchangeable because they both offer numerous opportunities for learning which can fuel economic, social and cultural development. There are countless stories where people's lives have been changed by a book they borrowed from the library. As their lives change, other lives around them are impacted for the good. Stories like these are the reasons countries around the world want to make sure that libraries are here now and in the future to ensure access to knowledge, learning and ideas.

In addition to lending books, libraries provide access to copying materials for research or private study purposes. Many students rely on services of the library because they cannot afford to buy every book or pay for every television broadcast or journal that is needed for their research purposes. Public libraries make interlibrary loans available to their customers. Interlibrary loans make materials available that are normally located in libraries hundreds or even thousands of miles away, at no additional cost to the library patron.

Libraries have not been acknowledged for the other economic benefits they provide. Public libraries have been a haven for job-seekers and entrepreneurs according to a press release by the American Library Association. In a survey conducted with over 1,000 adults, two-thirds indicated that the library was helpful for starting a business or finding a job. Sno-Isle Libraries has and will be providing programming pertaining to business out here at Tulalip such as Ready.Set.Start. Your Own Business, MS Excel for Beginners, MS Word for Beginners, Write a Business Plan.

The internet has created tremendous opportunities for libraries in terms of increasing access to knowledge. Sno-Isle Libraries electronic resources include ebooks, AtoZ Databases (Academic Search Premier, Birds of North America Online, Computer Source, Consumer Reports on Health Electronic Issues, Credo General Reference Premium, Consumer Reports, National Geographic Magazine (all Issues) EBSCOhost Databases and Gale Virtual Reference Library)

In April, we are having the Sno-Isle Libraries program Excel for Beginners. May's offering is Pinterest 101. You can also check out monthly programming information on the Higher ED Webpage, on Tulalip TV and through information mailed to your home. You can call us at 360-716-4888 or email us at higher@tulaliptribes-nsn.gov for additional information.

Whatever happened to transparency in government?

Years ago the board's salaries were significantly increased so they would be amply provided for by one job and we could have their full and undivided attention. Do we have it? When they're shaping policies, regulations and law, from inside ivory towers, toward their primary and often sole benefit? When they have too many hats in too many rings is it even possible to be an effective and selfless public servant?

This is something entirely different; a fledgling aristocracy, imposing their rule from castles in the trailer parks, handing down royal proclamations to peasants and indentured servants.

Whatever happened to transparency in government? The only true transparencies are self-serving politics, dead and dying social programs and an ever-widening class divide.

Jr. Lacy

Thank you, you all are in my prayers

To my Aunt Betty Taylor and family, Sharon, Matt, Ryan

This is Ashley Harrison and I was unable to be with my family during the loss of my great-aunt, Betty Taylor, but I was praying every day for strength during this hard time.

My auntie was loved and respected by all. She was such a wonderful woman, and as a child I remember seeing her every day at Tulalip Elementary School. I remember her helping all the Native children in school and the ones that were having problems at home or with their families, and that was me as a child. She always made me feel loved and safe with her. Feeling safe with someone was hard for me as a child. I had a hard time trusting anybody. But she had this brightness and look about her, reminding me of my great, great-grandma, Ruth Gobin.

Ruth raised my mother, Gina Harrison, so my mom was close and like a little sister to my aunties and uncles. They called her their Lil' Brat! I was young when grandma Ruth passed away but I see her in my dreams and my aunt Betty reminds me of her and loved me just like her.

I'm so honored to have had such a beautiful, bright, smart and caring auntie like my auntie, Betty Taylor. Thank you, auntie, for your help during my hard times as a child. You will always be missed and loved by me and all the children of Tulalip. Thanks for your caring, loving heart when it comes to the children of Tulalip. There isn't another person that can take your place, you were one of a kind. Thank you for teaching me how to be a loving and caring person. I know it runs in the family because just like you helped me as a child during hard times, mom, Sharon and Matt helped me through the most hardest times of my life as an adult. I lost a lot of people

I loved; my brother going away to prison and the loss of both my grandmas and my other mom, my aunt Mary Lou. And my son being taken from me and my break up with his dad after eleven years.

I was so far gone and lost when I made it to mom Sharon's and Matt's when I had nobody. I know that comes from my aunt Betty. She raised her kids and grandkids to be caring, loving people just like herself. She raised them the same way grandma Ruth raised my mom, Gina. That's how I know we are all family because we are loving and caring for others. We just have that caringness about others and we all got it from grandma Ruth. Thank you, grandma!

And Matt, thank you so much for everything you and your mom have done for me. I will never forget it. You are the one that helped me the most during my depression. The music helped me so much, you are special when it comes to your music. You rap about real stuff and life and hard times. You and Irean, J.J., Mac, you guys mean a lot to me and you all are my Maplewood family. Thanks for everything. I love and miss the hell out of the studio and can't wait to hear some real music! See you all soon.

And now it's time for me to help you and your mom through this hard time since I'm stronger now. I am here for you guys and been praying. Ryan, love you cuz and I've been thinking of you a lot too. Please stay strong, cuz, it's hard losing a grandma, I know.

R.I.P. grandma Betty and Char. Grandmas are the backbone of a native family so it's hard for a family. And your grandma was the last child of our late grandma Ruth, now it's time for us to grow up and teach our children the same teachings our grandma taught us. Thanks and you all are in my prayers.

Love always,
Ashley Harrison
