Warm Beach to launch trauma-informed, equine therapy for Tulalip youth

By Micheal Rios

Warm Beach is well-known as the home of The Lights of Christmas, a popular holiday festival featuring dazzling light displays. Not as commonly known, however, is the fact Warm Beach has one of Snohomish County's largest horse herds offering year-long equestrian programs. The dedicated staff of Warm Beach's equestrian program are currently

B-I-N-G-O celebration!

By Micheal Rios

Local Tulalip citizens were joined by their fellow tribal members that journeyed from as far north as Vancouver, B.C. and as far south as Olympia to fill the seats of Tulalip Bingo on Monday, April 29. The occasion? The highly anticipated 18th annual Tribal Bingo Celebration.

"Who is ready to win some money?!" resounded Board of Director Mel Sheldon. Like he has done in years past, Mel reigned supreme on the mic as M.C. for the specialty 10:00a.m.,

Oscar Carl Jones, Sr. Tulalip Tribal Court 2019 Warrant Amnesty Week

Submitted by Alicia Horne, Tribal Court Director

The Tulalip Tribal Court is offering Warrant Amnesty Week from Monday, June 3rd through Friday, June 7th at the following times:

- Monday, June 3 – 10:30m
- Tuesday, June 4 – 10:00 am
- Wednesday, June 5 – 10:00 am
- Thursday, June 6 – 3:00 pm
- Friday, June 7 – 10:00 am

Warrant Amnesty means that on the scheduled days and times, a community member who has a warrant out of the Tulalip Tribal Court can come to Court and quash their warrant without a quash fee and will not be taken into custody regardless of case charge(s). YOU MUST BE HERE AT THE TIMES ABOVE OR YOU MAY NOT GET A HEARING!

You will be issued a new court hearing date to review your case.

There are over 300 active warrants in the system-- costing police officer time, judicial and clerk time, and increasing jail costs, therefore, the Tribal Court is offering this Warrant Amnesty Week.

Please visit us at our new justice building: 6332 31st Avenue NE, Suite B, Tulalip, WA 98271.

If you have any further questions regarding our upcoming Warrant Amnesty Week, please contact the Tulalip Tribal Court at 360-716-4773.

Investment education class

By Rosie Topaum

This year in February, we had our investment education class. We decided this year to hold the class at TELA during lunch time but also be available for questions during the pickup time. We had about 20 members attend. There had been a lot of discussion on Facebook regarding the recent loss the trust accounts took on 12/31/18. This didn't just affect our trust accounts, but anyone that had money invested in Stocks. In 2016 the Board and staff decided to change the default option for the minors trust, the default option is the more aggressive in Stocks then the conservative. The reason this decision was made was that after a 10 year review the youth with money in Aggressive has earned $6,203.16 in interest vs. Conservative that earned $397.97 in interest. See the chart showing the differences.

	Conservative Portfolio	Age Based
		Portfolio #3 (Ages 0-9)	Portfolio #2 (Ages 10-14)	Portfolio #1 (Ages 15+)
Stocks	0%	65%	50%	10%
Cash	50%	5%	5%	25%
Bond	50%	30%	45%	65%
Interest earned on Ave. After 10 years	$ 379.97	$ 6,203.16

When the statements come out they are just a picture in time, the trust accounts at any moment are changing up and down. The hard part is on December 31, 2018, that was just a bad time to take a picture, it was right after Christmas and during the government shut down and the stock market had some bad days. So members saw a loss of $7,000+ if there child's money has been in trust since 2004.

However, to date, the accounts have recovered and this last statement kids have earned back the $7,000+.

Company name. There was also comments that the trust company is secret, it is not, we did have it printed on the statements but for some reason it was taken off. Trustee is – Matrix (they hold the physical money), Trautman Maher are the record keepers and UBS does the investing.

Please so not hesitate to call Enrollment if you have any questions about the accounts. I am happy to help you. We can review the investment and history, and look at the account balance.

Distriubutions. At the age of 18 with your GED or High School Diploma you can start to receive your trust. If you don't have those you have to wait until the age of 22. In 2017 we changed the distributions to one yearly distribution for a four-year span. You have to apply every year and you can in the same calendar month as the first distribution, so if you got your first check in June, then every June you come in to apply. We also got the Direct Deposit back, but you MUST bring in a voided check or direct deposit proof from your bank. There is also a financial class you must be taken. You can either go online or we offer a class here bi-monthly. Email: enrollment@tulaliptribes-nsn.gov to get information.

Lump sum. If you are purchasing a home or land, school expenses, medical bills, medical care, business startup or private trust.

Early release. You can only do this twice and only once you have already received your first distribution, but there has to be a six month wait in between the distributions. So if you get your first distribution in January, then in June you can apply again. You can only get them if you need Housing, Medical (pregnancy), automotive, taxes and fines.

Kiddie tax. This last year Trump changed the kiddie tax law. We did not know what the effects would be until this year when people started to do their taxes. In years prior, a minor's tax bracket would go off the person who claimed them as income. This year every minor is taxed at the same rate. With the per capita your children receive each parent or guardian needs to be doing the minor child's taxes. If your only withheld 10% for taxes, your child likely owed $580.00. At this time we are NOT mandatorily withholding more, but will probably be in the future for minors. However, you can take out more in taxes, you need to get the form from Membership Distribution and turn it into them. For example, someone that did 15% all year only owed $103, someone that did 15% all year with monthly checks and 20% bonus, got a $40 return. This way their taxes will be taken care of throughout the year and you will not have to pay a lot in at the end of the year.

We are also concerned because this new kiddie tax can effect members that get their trust out, ages 18-24 and in school. If a member is in school it is probably best that they file on their own and not with parents. membershipdistribution@tulaliptribes-nsn.gov is the contact to increase the taxes withhold from per capita.

When you file your per capits, please note that those funds come from Gaming Revenue. Make sure to choose that option, unless you are on disability, elders support or just elders stipend.

Contact 360-716-4300 or enrollment@tulaliptribes-nsn.gov.

Enrollment. Current enrollment Criteria. At the time of the birth of the applicant the parent has to be enrolled with Tulalip, also that Tulalip parent must have lived on the reservation for 12 consecutive months before the birth of the child and be able to prove it.

At 2019 Annual General Council, we voted on an Adoption Code that the General Council had been asking for the last three years, the motion fail. There will be NO adoption Code at this time.

2:00p.m. and 6:00p.m. sessions. He kept the atmosphere lively and upbeat with plenty of jokes and his witty banter.

Nearly one-thousand tribal members turned into dauber enthusiasts while enjoying the festivities and trying their luck to win high-end prizes or line their pockets with cold, hard cash.

"We are honored to host our tribal bingo while bringing fun and excitement to the membership for 18 wonderful years now," said Tammy Taylor, Tulalip Bingo Director. "The beautiful part of our celebration is bringing the membership together for a fun time, free of politics and drama. Today really is all about our people enjoying each other's company, sharing stories, and catching up with friends and family you don't see often enough."

Bingo staff did their best to make the 18th annual celebration move along as smoothly as possible. Like the last couple years, the event was split into three separate sessions instead of only two. Keeping the extra third session makes seating more comfortable and gives a slight bump to everyone's chance of winning cash and door prizes, such as a 75" TV, matching recliner set, and vacation voucher.

The day was especially exciting for Toneena Gobin who kicked-off her 20th birthday by attending the morning bingo session. Fortune favored the birthday girl as she won a whopping $1,199 cash prize.

“I almost fainted from being so excited,” beamed Toneena after collecting her winnings.

Spanning each session were 15 separate games of bingo, including hit favorites like Large Crazy Kite, Indian Star, and Blackout. During each session an estimated $33,000 in total prizes were awarded to bingo and door-prize raffle winners.

“It’s a time we all come together to celebrate,” reflected Mel following the afternoon session. “Bingo has been a pastime for generations now. Seeing all the first time 18-year-olds who participated today, adding to our tribal family, really makes it worthwhile.”

“Bingo started us [in the gaming industry] back in 1983,” added Tammy. “It’s been an amazing journey to where we are now. You could see so many big smiles, hugs being given, and loud laughs shared throughout today. From our Bingo team members to the Enrollment team members, everyone did a fantastic job start to finish.”

Smiles and laughs were had by many of the 970 tribal members who eagerly daubed away at their bingo cards during the two-hour sessions. Some even made the most of a fifteen-minute break to try their luck at the newly installed slot machines. The games of chance paid off big time for a lucky few, especially those who had the golden opportunity to yell out an ecstatic, “BINGO!”

developing a trauma-informed therapy course designed specifically for Tulalip foster children. The first-of-its-kind course is anticipated to debut in September.

The inspiration for a tribal specific version of equine therapy came about after Rebecca Black (Quinalt), who's been raising two Tulalip children for four years now, participated in a parent/child camp with horses at Warm Beach. While there she couldn't help but wonder how much more impactful the camp could be if it were designed for tribal youth and geared towards healing historical traumas.

"I grew up around horses and, being in an abusive foster care system as a young teen myself, there were literally times where the horses saved my life," shared Rebecca, now a licensed foster care provider. "I wanted my two boys and other tribal youth to experience the healing that horses make possible. It's so important that we intercede at a younger age because the health outcomes in our communities, especially for our kids in foster care, can really change."

Rebecca met with Warm Beach executive staff and engaged in a series of productive meetings regarding a camp that not only establishes a working relationship with Tulalip, but also would break down barriers of opportunity for tribal youth. Months' worth of meetings and cultural education led to an application to the Tulalip Charitable Table and a subsequent grant award to develop a prototype version of equine therapy for Tulalip foster children.

On the morning of April 25, representatives from Warm Beach Horsemanship met with Chairwoman Teri Gobin, Board of Director Mel Sheldon, and Charitable Contributions

Director Marilyn Sheldon to thank them all in culturally appropriate way for the grant funds making the innovative therapy course possible. A brief introduction of what's to come and how the children will benefit was also detailed.

"Our intent is to use the grant to run a three day trauma-informed, therapeutic program that will cater to serving eight Tulalip children currently in foster care," explained Lisa Tremain, Horsemanship Director at Warm Beach Camp. "Through the use of horses we'll be doing activities both mounted and on the ground that help walk the children through various stages of their healing journey. Building relationships, trust and confidence are critical pieces to the healing process that equine therapy offers."

"In a therapeutic and safe environment, horses provide unique nonverbal feedback that can facilitate social, physical and cognitive skill development in people of all ages," added Ginger Reitz, Therapeutic Horsemanship Coordinator.

Two therapeutic horses, Mirage and Cameo, wore 'Lightening Horse' blankets courtesy of Eighth Generation. After making their introductions with everyone in attendance, the horses' blankets were used to wrap Board members Teri and Mel.

"Our hands go up to you all for your good work," stated Chairwoman Gobin. "We understand how important work like this is to help people, especially our children, heal from their own personal traumas. It's often not easy to speak about, but it's essential if we're to move forward in a good way."

Garden Day promotes overall health and wellness in Tulalip

By Kalvin Valdillez

The beautiful and peaceful Wellness Garden Trail, located behind the Karen I. Fryberg Health Clinic, officially opened on the morning of April 27, as the community of Tulalip gathered to celebrate the first Garden Day of 2019. After a long, cold winter, the plant beds were ready for a new beginning and approximately seventy-five volunteers arrived bright and early to prune and replenish the garden boxes with fresh soil and new plants.

Garden Day is hosted by the Tulalip Diabetes Care and Prevention program and is held periodically throughout the year. Participants of all ages learn how to grow and maintain a garden by cultivating a variety of produce, fruit trees and traditional medicinal plants. The crew, equipped with gardening tools, gloves and trash bags, as well as piles of fresh soil, worked hard while enjoying good company and a view of Tulalip Bay on a gorgeous spring day.

“We’ve been doing Garden Day since February 2011,” explained Diabetes Program Coordinator, Veronica ‘Roni’ Leahy. “It started at the Hibulb Cultural Center and then it moved to the health clinic in 2014. Diabetes prevention is really what it’s all about. To prevent diabetes, we’re looking to promote exercise and healthy foods. If we can achieve 5-7% weight loss by exercise or nutrition, we reduce our risk of developing diabetes by 57%, by just making little tiny changes. The prevalence of diabetes within Native American communities is higher than non-Native communities. For us, the foods we would’ve traditionally eaten are not readily available to us.”

According to Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Indigenous Peoples are at a substantially higher risk to develop diabetes than any other race nationwide. Previous records show that for decades, Native diabetics experienced kidney failure due to complications from diabetes. But because of programs like Diabetes Care and Prevention, individuals are now learning how to properly manage their blood glucose and sugar levels, and therefore the amount of kidney failures amongst Native diabetics dropped by a whopping 54% since 2013.

During the event, the health clinic provides free screenings for both blood pressure and blood sugar levels as hypertension and diabetes are widespread amongst tribal members. Based on the results, the clinic can offer advice and refer them to the appropriate specialist. Throughout the day, about thirty volunteers took the time to participate in the screening to get an update on their health.

In addition to learning about diabetes and growing plentiful green gardens, participants are also treated to a delicious and nutritious breakfast, snack and lunch prepared by the Tulalip SNAP-Ed program. Traditional foods were incorporated into the meal, including nettles in tasty brownie deserts, as well as fruit-infused water. The event also included a giveaway where prizes were raffled off such as gardening tools, watering cans, children’s gardening kits and seedlings of strawberries, cabbage, peas, broccoli, zucchini, tomatoes, green beans, and cucumber plants.

“I came out today because Roni inspired me to start my own garden,” expressed Tulalip tribal member, Tempest Dawson. “This is my third year working on my own garden, and I like to come to Garden Day and follow her around because she knows a lot about gardening and I pick up whatever she has to teach me. It’s important to continue to teach our people about the land and that there are natural foods that we can live off of, instead of relying on the grocery store or processed foods.”

Roni explained that five years ago, tribal member Walt Campbell purchased a shovel, painted the tool gold and brought it to Garden Day to gift to the hardest working green thumb of the day. Since then, gifting golden shovels became quite the tradition, adding a bit more fun at the end of each Garden Day. This time around, two golden shovels were gifted; one to Tulalip youth, Cohen Ramsey, the other to Marisol Raza and her children.

“We won the golden shovel award,” Marisol exclaimed. “It’s for being a hard working person, taking part in Garden Day. We’ve been coming for about three years or so and we absolutely love it. Today we cleaned up the plant beds, removed old plants and pulled weeds, as well as added new soil and compost. We planted cabbage and broccoli. Enjoying that final product is going to be awesome.”

Because the gardeners meet up four to five times annually, they’ve developed close friendships over the years. Young Tulalip tribal member, Kaiser Moses, has attended every Garden Day with his mother since its inception and looks forward to helping out at each event as well as visiting with his fellow gardeners.

“I’ve been participating in Garden Day since I was about four,” Kaiser said. “It feels like old friends reuniting every year. It’s really fun and great for rebooting for your mental stability. As a group, we all work together to make the garden better and plant some new plants in the garden beds. There’s a bunch of friendly, kind-hearted happy souls who come out every time we have a Garden Day.”

The Diabetes Care and Prevention Program will continue its busy year, promoting overall health and wellness with a number of classes, programs and Garden Days including the new 26-week Diabetes Prevention class, for those who’ve been diagnosed with pre-diabetes. More details will come before the start of the program in June. For more information, please contact the Tulalip Diabetes Care and Prevention Program at (360) 716-5642.

Why Study Dentistry

Submitted by Jeanne Steffener, Higher ED

Dentistry is one of the oldest medical professions on earth. “The earliest evidence of dentistry in ancient times dates back to 7000 BC, teeth were found in a Neolithic graveyard located in Pakistan. The teeth have evidence of holes made from primitive dental drills.”⁽¹⁾

“Dentistry is a branch of medicine that is concerned with the study, diagnosis, prevention and treatment of diseases, disorders and conditions of the oral cavity, the maxillofacial area and the adjacent and associated structures. Essentially, dentistry is directed at oral care and dental health maintenance.”⁽²⁾

Dental Medicine is a very important component of the primary healthcare professions. This frontline profession is fundamental in disease prevention and intervention while promoting overall wellness in people. Oral health is critical in maintaining our general health, well-being and quality of life. A major portion of dentistry involves the prevention and treatment of tooth decay and gum disease

Dentists provide services that improve their patients appearance and self-confidence with a wide range of dental procedures. These services promote self-confidence in patients pertaining to their smile. Patients learn about good oral habits through their dentist, promoting good oral health and disease prevention. Dentists interact with people of all ages, cultures and personalities. A dentist’s typical day is both diverse and very interesting.

Dentists in essence are artists. Whether brightening teeth or re-aligning an entire jaw, the dentist has to have the ability to visualize an aesthetic end result making their patients look their best.

Dentistry offers career opportunities in both the private and public sectors, i.e. private practice, public clinics, teaching, research, public health and administration. A career in dentistry will provide a lifetime of learning on the cutting edge of technology. Careers for women in dentistry are on the forefront as we enter a more inclusive age.

The average income of dentists is in the top 8 percent of U.S. family incomes and the demand for dental care is increasing. With all the marketing, more people are becoming aware of the importance of regular dental care. Geriatric dental care is extremely important for older adults trying to keep their teeth longer. Implant cosmetic surgery is contributes greatly to the growth of this profession.

Dentists usually receive a bachelor’s degree. Then they attend four years of dental school. In addition, dentists have to complete additional qualifications plus continuing education to accommodate a constantly changing field. Dentists also prescribe medications related to patient management. They encourage and promote prevention of oral diseases with regular patient check-ups, cleanings, evaluation and monitoring.

Other mid-level occupations in the dental field supporting the dentist include registered dental assistants, dental hygienists and dental technicians. Other types of dental positions include dental laboratory technicians and administrative staff. Additional employment opportunities may be available in dental schools, hospitals and companies that manufacture dental prosthetic materials.

If you have a calling to become a dentist or are interested in other areas of the field, please call the Higher ED staff at 360-716-4888 or email us at highered@tulaliptribes-nsn.gov for assistance with this exciting career opportunity.

Tutoring & Homework Support

PROGRAM

Kindergarten thru 12th grade

Our Program is FREE to all Children/Families

 Our staff go directly to the schools in the morning hours where we work as support for all the local school's staff and students, kindergarten thru the 12th grades.

In the afternoons, our staff is back to our own classrooms where we work with the students one to one on tutoring in Math, Reading, Comprehension, Writing, English, Science, Spanish, and also helping all students with completing their weekly homework packets.

Our on-line programs include:

- Reading Plus
- IXL
- Cool Math
- ABCya!
- Fact Monster Math
- Math Magician
- Math Playground

We also use:

SILENT READING ASSESSMENT
