State Awards more than $42 Million in Grants for Salmon Recovery

Organizations in 30 Counties,
Including Snohomish, Receive Funding

Source: Washington State Recreation and Conservation office

OLYMPIA – The Washington Salmon Recovery Funding Board and the Puget Sound Partnership today announced the award of more than $42 million in grants to organizations around the state for projects that restore and protect salmon habitat, helping bring salmon back from the brink of extinction.

“Salmon are an important part of both Washington’s culture and economy,” said Gov. Jay Inslee. “Healthy salmon populations support thousands of jobs in fishing, hotels and restaurants, seafood processing, boat sales and repair, charter operations, environmental restoration and more. I am very pleased with the work of the Salmon Recovery Funding Board and its efforts to fund projects that help our economy and assure future generations of Washingtonians can enjoy the return of wild salmon.”

Funding for the grants comes from the federal Pacific Coastal Salmon Recovery Fund and the sale of state bonds. In addition, $24.4 million is from the Puget Sound Acquisition and Restoration Fund, which is jointly approved by the Salmon Recovery Funding Board and the Puget Sound Partnership in coordination with local watersheds, for projects that will help restore Puget Sound.

Grant recipients will use the money to remove barriers that prevent salmon from migrating, reshape rivers and streams and replant riverbanks so there are more places for salmon to spawn, feed, rest, hide from predators and transition from freshwater to saltwater and back again.

Creating Healthy Salmon Habitat

Salmon populations in Washington have been declining for generations. As Washington grew and built its cities and towns, it destroyed many of the places salmon need to live. In 1991, the federal government declared the first salmon as endangered. By the end of that decade, salmon populations had dwindled so much that salmon and bull trout were listed as threatened or endangered in three-quarters of the state. Those listings set off a series of activities including the formation of the Salmon Recovery Funding Board to oversee the investment of state and federal funds for salmon recovery.

“Without these grants, Washington’s salmon populations would continue to decline until nothing was left,” said David Troutt, chair of the state funding board. “That’s the trajectory we were on before salmon were placed on the federal Endangered Species Act list. In most areas of the state, fish are increasing or staying the same while in some important areas, fish populations are decreasing. Habitat is the key to salmon recovery and continuing to fund these important projects will help to move all populations in a positive direction.”

How Projects are Chosen

Projects are selected by local watershed groups, called lead entities. Lead entities are local consortiums that include tribes, local governments, nonprofits and citizens who work together to recruit and review project proposals and make decisions about which projects to forward to the Salmon Recovery Funding Board for funding. Lead entities ensure that the projects are based on regional salmon recovery plans that were approved by the federal government. Then regional salmon recovery organizations and the Salmon Recovery Funding Board review each project to ensure they will help recover salmon in the most cost-effective manner.

“This bottom-up process of local groups identifying what needs to be fixed in their communities and then those projects undergoing regional and state scientific review means only the best and most cost-effective projects will be funded,” said Kaleen Cottingham, director of the Recreation and Conservation Office, which administers the grants. “We have been working for more than a decade to repair the damage that has been done to salmon habitat. But we have much more to accomplish before salmon can be removed from the endangered species list. This process of local priorities and state scientific overview has proven to be the most effective way of getting projects done on-the-ground and it assures we are investing the money we have very strategically.”

The Big Picture

“Restoring our lakes, streams, rivers and ecosystem isn’t just about saving salmon. A healthy ecosystem supports human health, our economy, our traditions, and our quality of life,” said Marc Daily, interim executive director of the Puget Sound Partnership, the state agency leading the recovery of Puget Sound. “These projects help to protect and perpetuate valuable resources today and for generations to come.”

Recent Oregon studies showed that every $1 million spent on watershed restoration results in 15-33 new or sustained jobs, $2.2 million to $2.5 million in total economic activity, and that 80 percent of grant money is spent in the county where the project was located.

Using the Oregon study formula, these new grants are estimated to provide more than 630 jobs during the next four years and more than $84 million in economic activity as grant recipients hire contractors, crews and consultants to design and build projects, including field crews to restore rivers and shoreline areas.

“These grants put people to work in our community,” said Craig George, mayor of the city of Dayton. “We see jobs as well as improvements to our lands. What’s good for salmon is good for the people in my community.”

Information about the Salmon Recovery Funding Board is available online at www.rco.wa.gov.

Tribal Court to close during the holidays

Submitted by Wendy Church, Court Director

In coordination with the Tulalip Tribal Government closure, the Tribal Court and Probation Office will also be closed from December 24, 2013 through January 1, 2014. On Mon., Dec. 23, 2013 the Court will remain open all day, including through the lunch hour to accommodate clients and the community prior to the holidays.

The Judges and executive team will be on-call, and will provide all necessary personnel (Prosecutors, and Police Dept.) with their fax numbers, cell phone numbers and email to coordinate/facilitate any necessary Court hearings.

Warrants/Probable Cause: The Judges will meet with Prosecution so any warrants or probable cause hearings will be faxed to Judge Bass (primary Judge) for review.

If a client is arrested and needs to be brought out a Release Order will be faxed from Prosecution to the Judges for review. Probable Cause hearings will be held if needed, but Judge Pouley felt the release order and any action she would take she can do by fax.

Emergency Pick-Ups: Emergency Pick-ups, if needed, will be faxed to the Judge for review and signature. Those petitions have Orders incorporated in them so they can be signed and faxed back. Hearings will be held within 72 hours if needed.

Traffic Tickets: Traffic Tickets will have their hearings no earlier than January 6, 2014. There are currently no contested traffic hearings scheduled during this time. Any traffic payments due during that time will not incur a late penalty of $25.00 and will have those closed days added to the time they have to pay their ticket.

Probation Office/Clients: Probation will be closed and all Probation Client check-ins will be again start Jan. 2, 2014 (the day the Court reopens). Probation clients will not need to check in, therefore, from Dec. 24th through Jan. 1st, 2014.

If you have questions, please contact Wendy Church, Court Director; Janine Van Dusen, Deputy Court Clerk; or Jim Furchert, Probation Officer at 360 / 716-4773.

Need Help Filling Out Court Forms and Navigating Through the Tribal Codes?

Submitted by Wendy Church, Court Director

If you need help filing out Court forms, navigating through the Tribal Codes, and general guidance on Court procedures, the Court now has a Pro Se Judicial Facilitator to provide these services to the community. (Pro Se means that an individual party to a case is serving as their own attorney). Janine Van Dusen, Janine Van Dusen, Pro Se Judicial Facilitator, Tulalip Tribal Court.

Esq., who is the Tribal Court Administrator, can meet and assist you if you need to file paperwork with the Court in the following areas of family law (dissolution, custody, guardianships); housing issues (including evictions); employment cases (disciplines and dismissals), civil exclusions and power of attorneys.

Here are some ways the Pro Se Judicial Facilitator can help:

- Assist a client with new and existing court cases by suggesting required forms and pleadings.
- Explain what pleadings or forms have been served on you.
- Explain when forms might be incomplete and, therefore, not ready for filing.

- Explain Court procedures for setting motions and other matters heard by the Court.

The Pro Se Judicial Facilitator cannot:

- Give you legal advice, help you with legal strategy, or tell you how your case will come out
- Take sides – they can help any party to a case.
- Be responsible for the accuracy of the information you have in any forms or papers you file or use in court.
- The Facilitator does not and cannot represent you in Court.

For Pro Se Judicial Facilitator services please come to Tulalip Tribal Court, Room #101 (left of the main entrance):

- Every Monday from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.
- Every Thursday from 10:00 a.m. 12:00 p.m.

For further information, you can call Janine at 360 / 716-4770.

Also, once a month, Janine will be doing outreach to the Tribal Elder's and will visit on-site to the Senior Center and/or Bingo to help the Elders and answer any questions they may have about the judicial system.

A Pro Se Judicial Facilitator cannot give legal advice nor can they represent you in Court.

If you need full-on legal representation in a civil matter, please contact the Tribes' Civil Legal Aid Office to see if you are financially-eligible for their services at 360 / 716-4517 or you can hire a fee-for-service attorney at your own expense.

The Tribal Court has a list of fee-for-service attorneys available at the Court reception window; this list is also downloadable from the Tulalip Court's website listed under "What do I do if I don't have an Attorney?" at the bottom of the homepage at: <http://www.tulaliptribes-nsn.gov/Home/Government/Departments/TribalCourt.aspx>

Tulalip Tribal Court to publish names on warrant list in February 2014

Submitted by Wendy Church, Tulalip Tribal Court Director

In the first week of February 2014, the Tribal Court will publish in the See-Yaht-Sub the names of Tribal members who are on the active warrant list by authority of Tulalip Tribal Resolution 2011-504.

There are over 300+ warrants which burdens and is very costly to the police and judicial system, thus, the Court at this time is giving notice and the opportunity to Tribal members who live on the Tulalip Reservation and who have an old warrant to come in and quash that warrant so that you can get a new Court hearing date— before we publish your name in the See-Yaht-Sub in February 2014.

Warrants are issued because you failed to appear at your hearing, or there was a criminal complaint filed against you, also if you have failed to comply with a court order, such as having a probation violation or a missed mandatory uranalysis. You may be able to quash an old warrant and get a new Court hearing date if you are a Tribal member and you have a warrant for your arrest on the Tulalip Reservation.

For first time offenders (sometimes second time offenders), your warrant quash will cost you nothing. If you are a repeat offender, the judge may levy a fee for you to quash your warrant, anywhere from $25 to $75 dollars. The police, prosecution, and probation are then notified that you came to the court to quash your warrant. It is advised to please keep your warrant quash paperwork on you for at least two weeks after it is quashed.

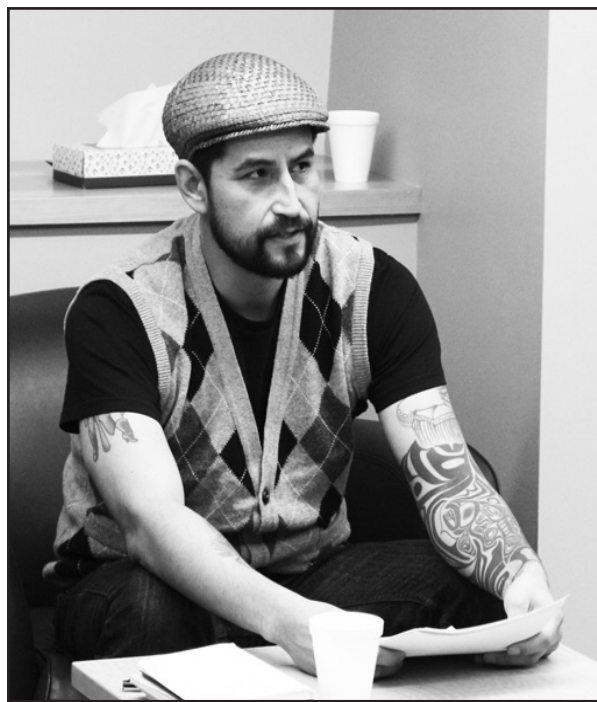

The tribal court encourages you to come in to quash your warrant. It shows you are taking care of business and makes a good impression on the judge.

Please visit the Tribal Court to quash your warrant during these times:

Tuesdays, from 8:30 a.m. to 09:30 a.m., and Fridays, from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

If you have questions regarding warrant quashes, you can call the Tribal Court Clerk at 360 / 716-4773.

Hibulb poetry series features Paul Rowley

Paul Rowley narrates his introduction and poetry.

Seattle native reflects on Native American Heritage Month

Article and photo by Andrew Gobin

Paul Rowley, widely known for his contemporary cedar woven hat designs, was the featured indigenous poet for December's poetry session at Tulalip's Hibulb Cultural Center. An open-mic forum for other poets to share followed Rowley's reading.

Paul Rowley presented his poetry as a narrative of his Indian experience. His most recent work is inspired by his reflections on Indian Country over the course of the month of November, Native American Heritage Month. Rowley attempts to highlight the perpetual mistreatment and apathy towards Native peoples, using stereotypes to identify the issues.

Hosted in the museum library, the poetry sessions are quite intimate. The small audience is familiar with each other, and gets to know the poet of the evening. The open-mic forum is used for artist Q&A and for other poets to share; for December, Chad Charlie was another indigenous poet who shared a poem inspired by his experience growing up in the generational trauma and disconnect that exists on every reservation.

Rowley, who is of Haida, Tlingit, Blackfoot, and Cree descent, was born and raised in Seattle Washington. Moving to Portland to attend Portland State University, Rowley has completed his undergraduate degree in Political Science, finishing with a Masters of Fine Arts from Pacific University. He currently lives between Portland and Tulalip.

series which opened this year's season, the Heritage Hawks played an intense game with tension on the court and in the audience. With this win, the Hawks season continues with a 3-0 streak.

"It was a good experience to play other natives from across the mountains," said senior Shawn Sanchez.

This was the first year Heritage has played Yakima, joining Lummi as our rival to the 1B circuit.

Junior Anthony Mclean said, "It was a good game to learn from."

The December 4th season opener against Cedar Park Christian/Mountlake Terrace Lions was a pivotal win defining the Hawks' season.

Head coach Marlin Fryberg Jr. said, "This is a great start to the season. We played against this team (The Lions) last year three times and they beat us each time. In practice, the emphasis was to open the season real strong and show them and the other teams how Tulalip will play this year."

The Hawks played a fierce game, winning 64-50, with each play executed quickly and precisely. Dontae Jones, known for his quick feet, moved low and fast dodging many Lions players, flashing a smile as he breezed by. Brandon Jones and Shawn Sanchez with the rebound wasted no time getting to the hoop. All players proved to be strong shooters, with Payton Comenote sinking three pointers.

After such a strong lead into the season, the second game against Mount Vernon Christian Hurricanes on December 6th was surprisingly lively. Even more intense than the first game, the Hawks played a fast game, fighting to keep their lead in a close game, winning 56-52.

The December 7th Yakima game closed out the first home series for Heritage, who now stands undefeated. Key players to watch named from these three games are #21 Robert Miles Jr., #24 Keanu Hamilton, and #20 Payton Comenote.

Fryberg said, "As a sophomore, Robert plays basketball the way you hope a senior would play."

"We play as a team. Play as a team and win as a team," said Hamilton, after the win against Yakima.

"The boys played an excellent game, they continue to improve with each one. As we continue on we will practice hard and continue to build the team," said Cyrus Fryberg, assistant coach for the Heritage Hawks after Saturday's win.

Tulalip Heritage Hawks have opened the season strong as they strive for the State Championship. The Hawks will play Yakima Tribal again on December 21st in Yakima.

If you missed the games, you can catch them on KANU TV or online at tulalip.tv. For information about the games and to view the photo gallery, please visit tulalipnews.com.

Sports

On December 7, Lady Hawks played Yakima Nation Eagles in a non-league game resulting in an explosive upset for the Lady Hawks 81-83.

Throughout the game Lady Hawks led by a narrow point margin, but Yakima Eagles closed the gap in the last two minutes. With seconds left, a battle to lead erupted in free throws with both teams committing fouls leading to a tied game and pushing it into overtime. Eagles took advantage of the upset taking the win by 2 points.

Heritage Lady Hawks coach Cyrus Fryberg noted the game against Yakima was a tough game, "Yakima fought their hearts out. The girls [Lady Hawks] learned a few things we can improve. We'll see what we can do in two weeks in Yakima for round two." Lady Hawks will travel to Yakima on December 21.

Adiya Jones, Katia Brown, and Kaela Tyler continue to lead the Lady Hawks, scoring on average 10 points each, while new comers Aliya Jones, Paris Verda, and Desirae Williams each score an average of 2 points each.

You can watch a replay of the Lady Hawks games against Cedar Park MLT, Mount Vernon Christian and Yakima Tribal at www.tulalip.tv. For live coverage of the games please visit www.tulalip.tv and check out additional coverage of the games including game photos at www.tulalipnews.com.

Lady Hawk Katia Brown fakes a right against Yakima Tribal #23 Tori Wapsheli to gain two points for the Lady Hawks during overtime.

Lady Hawk Desirae Williams steals the ball from Mount Vernon Christian Hurricanes.

Sam Davis honored at community potluck

At the December "Together We're Better" Potluck, Tribal member Sam Davis was honored for the humble work he does within our community. As a coach for youth through the sports programs, Sam has mentored youth with supportive guidance and teachings. As an advocate for those in recovery, Sam has humbly guided community members onto the Red Road through meetings and sponsoring. We are truly grateful for the teachings Sam passes on to those of all ages and to his family for supporting his efforts in our community!

To my loving husband, Quincy, on our Special Day

The first day we met was at the park and we walked around getting to know each other.

And on the second day, when you came over to my house, it was on a very sunny and hot day and we sat in my back yard under a big tree and just talked and found out we had a lot in common, as if we knew each other for years and years. Right then and there it was like I knew I found my soul mate and it was like god has answered my prayers and brought me an amazing man in my life. You have done so much for me that words can't explain how happy I am to have you in my life. You always know how to make me smile when I am down, taken care of me when I am sick, you've been there for the good and the bad. You always stuck by my side no matter how bad it got; we always made it through. We've been together for eight amazing years and married for two amazing years and we have many more to come. Even in the afterlife we will have an amazing time together because we will always be together.

Happy Anniversary, my Love. Love you always and forever,
Jennifer Penson

Needing mail

Just writing you this letter to let you know that in the November 13, 2013 issue of the Tulalip See-Yaht-Sub, I totally agree with the article by Theresa Sheldon, "Regalia or Costume: Don't be stereotyped." But we as Native Americans must all be on the same page in order to accomplish our goal or goals. I am Native American and sorry to say, I'm doing time in this Iron House here in California, but I don't want to be forgotten, like many of us Native brothers, once we are incarcerated. Maybe someone can write to me. If anyone would like to write to me, please feel free and I will answer you. Just in need of a friend, or anyone to correspond with.

Sincerely,
Dion

New home construction on tribal lands on Tulalip Bay lots

I have noticed the tribe has started building numerous new homes on tribal lots around Tulalip Bay.

As a tribal member, I am concerned over our tribal hard dollars being spent on the construction and would like to know how much of our money is being spent, not only for the material, but the manpower costs. I have asked questions from numerous tribal members on who the homes are being built for and the cost of construction and future plans for the homes. No one can give me an answer to any of these questions. It seems like the tribe is going overboard in clearing off our tribal lots and building new homes. My question is who will get these new homes and what it will cost the tribe, not only for the material, but time spent by tribal employees and how much they will end up selling these homes for.

As a retired Bureau of Indian Affairs realty officer, I know the value of these waterfront lots and know the tribe currently leases a single lot for $400 or $500 per month. Anyone that purchases these homes will need to pay for the lease of the lot, plus water, sewer, home insurance and cost of the home. I am sure none of us tribal members can afford the cost as it will run up to $2,500 or more per month! This does not even include heat and electricity.

The Board of Directors cannot lower the cost of the land lease rental just to sell these new homes as there are numerous tribal members currently living on tribal lots around Tulalip Bay who are required to pay the lease fee at the fair market value. If the tribe attempts to give the purchasers of these new homes a lower rate, all tribal members living on tribal lots would have to receive the same treatment under the Indian Civil Rights Act. They cannot just not charge rental as all of us tribal members would need to get a waterfront lot free of charge.

Tribal members need to be kept advised on big construction projects like this, where not only our land, but tribal monies are being used for the construction.

The construction just doesn't make sense as we just received a letter from the tribe stating all tribal government offices will be closed between Christmas and New Years in order to save our tribe dollars since we are running into a shortage of funds. I thought we had a 5 or 10 year plan in place and I don't recall there ever being anything in any plan about constructing new homes on tribal lots around Tulalip Bay. I thought the plan was to return the land to the original state for use of all tribal members, not just the rich!

One of the rumors was some of the homes were going to be rented out and that is really a joke, as how many of the HUD homes that were built are boarded up because of drug use and contamination for drugs being made in the homes. It cost as much as the home construction to clean up after a drug infected house. There are too many of these to count.

I think as tribal members we need to get more information sent out in our paper about projects that we are paying for and on something as big as this it should have received tribal member approval. This is just not the Board of Directors land, it is our tribal lands.

Thank you for reading my concerns.

Obituary

Leroy Martin "Lee" Fryberg Jr.

Leroy (Lee) Martin Fryberg Jr. Leroy (Lee) Martin Fryberg Jr. Sut 'u kaad was a Tulalip Tribal member born on November 12, 1957 in Everett, WA. He entered into rest on December 7, 2013. He was born to the late Leroy M. Fryberg Sr. and Ella M. Hill. He was also adopted out and raised by the late Robert and Keeta Cameron, where he lived with them until he graduated from Everett High School in 1976. Leroy had a large heart and was committed to serve his family and his people. Throughout his life he helped many different people any way he could, he volunteered to help out at community events, helped cook for community gatherings, he loved being out on the water, beading, cutting wood, playing sports, and especially playing and spending time with the grandkids. During Leroy's life he worked as a logger, security officer, commercial fisherman, as well as other odd end jobs. He met his lifelong partner of 24 years, Lahneen Fryberg, and together they raised eight wonderful children, Tanisha (Merlin), Kiah (Andy), Natasha (Ryan), Josephine (Chandell), Leila, Andrew, Brandee, Cameron. Also grandchildren, Keiara, Ladainian, Kailonna, Maleia, Bryson, Andrew Jr., and Aiden. He is also survived by siblings, aunts, uncles, cousins, many adopted children and grandchildren, as well as many friends. Leroy was truly blessed with an amazingly large family. Leroy is preceded in death by his parents, Leroy M. Fryberg, Ella M. Hill, Robert and Keeta Cameron; his brother, Martin J. Fryberg and sister, Dee Dee Cameron; and grandsons, Dason Blondin and Jordyn Moses. A viewing was held December 11, 2013 at Schaefer-Shipman Funeral Home with an interfaith service following at the Tulalip Tribal center. Funeral services were December 12, 2013 at the Tulalip Tribal Center with burial following at Mission Beach Cemetery.
